Abstract: ‘Viksit Bharat’ means ‘Developed India’. Viksit Bharat 2047 is a visionary initiative by the Government of India aimed at transforming the nation into a fully developed country by the year 2047, which marks the 100th year of India’s independence. This initiative focuses on achieving holistic development across all sectors by empowering citizens, enhancing their capabilities, and fostering inclusive growth. Through strategic planning, innovation, and active public participation, the government envisions building a strong, self-reliant, and globally competitive India. “Viksit Bharat 2047” envisions a progressive and developed India, and libraries play a crucial role in realizing this vision by serving as centres for knowledge dissemination, digital literacy, and community empowerment. Libraries are instrumental in fostering a knowledge-driven society, promoting education, and preserving cultural heritage all of which are fundamental to achieving India’s developmental goals.

I. INTRODUCTION:

Viksit Bharat 2047: A Collective Journey towards a Developed India:

Viksit Bharat 2047 provides individuals with a meaningful opportunity to contribute to India’s vision of becoming a developed nation by the year 2047. This initiative empowers citizens to actively engage in the nation’s progress through idea generation, constructive feedback, and participation in policy discussions.

By registering under the Viksit Bharat 2047 initiative, individuals cultivate a sense of ownership and shared responsibility for national development. Active participation is essential not only for contributing ideas and suggestions but also for providing feedback on various aspects of governance and development.

Knowledge sharing and public awareness are also key pillars of the initiative. The platform offers access to a wide range of print and digital resources, as well as documentation of best practices across different sectors. This helps promote a deeper understanding of development efforts and encourages informed participation.

A significant focus of Viksit Bharat 2047 is the active involvement of youth. The initiative provides young citizens with platforms to engage in discussions, debates, and policymaking processes. It also supports skill development and empowerment through capacity building, leadership training, and other growth-oriented programs equipping individuals to make effective contributions to national progress.

Registered participants may benefit from access to valuable resources, including funding opportunities, mentorship programs, and networking platforms to support their initiatives and entrepreneurial endeavours.

Through Viksit Bharat 2047, citizens can contribute directly to key areas such as education, healthcare, agriculture, and technology, thereby making a tangible impact on the country's development.

Ultimately, this initiative fosters a spirit of collective action, ensuring that the journey toward a developed India by 2047 results in a better quality of life for all.

Libraries and Their Role in Viksit Bharat 2047:

Libraries are playing a crucial role in realizing the vision of Viksit Bharat 2047, a developed India by the 100th year of independence. Traditionally, libraries are known for their extensive collections of printed materials. However, they have evolved significantly to include a wide array of resources such as commercial releases of films, television programs, video and audio recordings, music, and formats like microforms. Many also offer access to digital content and bibliographic databases.

Library services and user communities vary depending on the type, size, and location of the library. Often, libraries serve as vibrant community hubs, offering programs that encourage lifelong learning and social engagement.

Modern libraries have expanded beyond their physical walls, offering electronic access to resources, including remote access via the internet, thus making knowledge more inclusive and accessible.

Key Contributions of Libraries to Viksit Bharat 2047:

1. Knowledge Hubs: Libraries serve as essential access points for information, supporting education, research, orientation, and the lifelong learning process for all age groups.
2. Promoting Digital Literacy: By offering access to technology, training, and digital resources, libraries help bridge the digital divide and foster digital inclusion.
3. Community Engagement: Libraries function as community centres, offering programs and services tailored to various groups, thereby promoting social development and inclusivity.
4. Cultural Preservation: Libraries play a key role in preserving India's cultural heritage, including indigenous literature, traditional knowledge systems, and historical documents.
5. Research and Innovation Support: By providing access to scholarly materials, research tools, and collaborative spaces, libraries actively support research and innovation.
6. Capacity Building in the Library Profession: Libraries offer continuous training and development opportunities for librarians and other community members, thus strengthening the profession and promoting excellence.
7. Youth Empowerment: Libraries empower the youth by offering access to educational and career resources. They also facilitate international collaborations for knowledge exchange and adoption of global best practices. In essence, libraries are dynamic and vital institutions that significantly contribute to India's vision of becoming a developed nation by 2047. Through their diverse services and community-driven initiatives, libraries are not just repositories of knowledge but agents of transformation in the journey toward Viksit Bharat.

Objective of the research:

1. Quick Library off-line & online Services
2. Remote Access of library to users
3. Promotion of Literacy
4. Promotion of research & Development
5. Support for research and innovation
6. Importance role for community Engagement
7. Archive documents

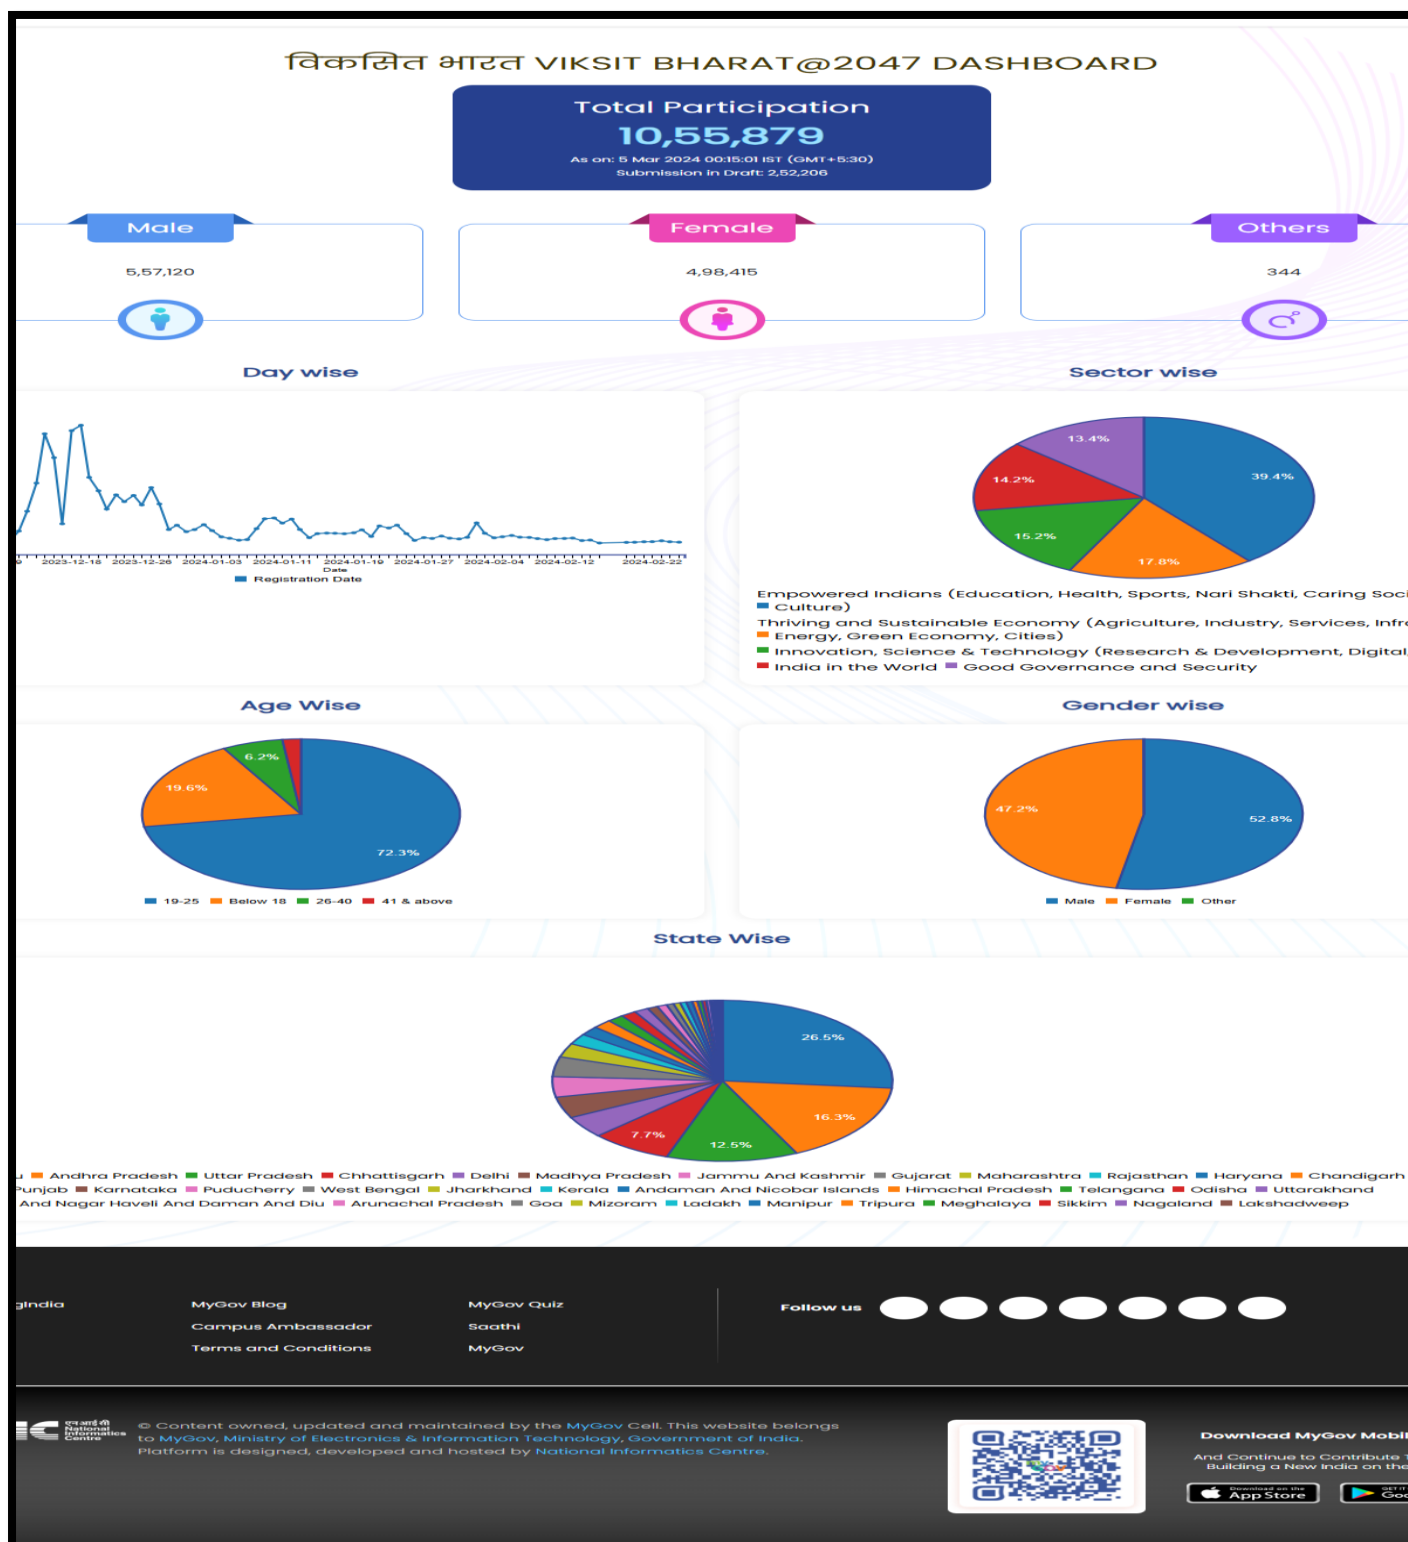

Research Methodology & Data collection:

For this study, survey methods were employed as the primary tool for data collection. Data was systematically gathered across multiple dimensions, including:

- State-wise distribution
- Age and gender-wise classification
- Sector-wise categorization (e.g., Education, Health, Governance, etc.)

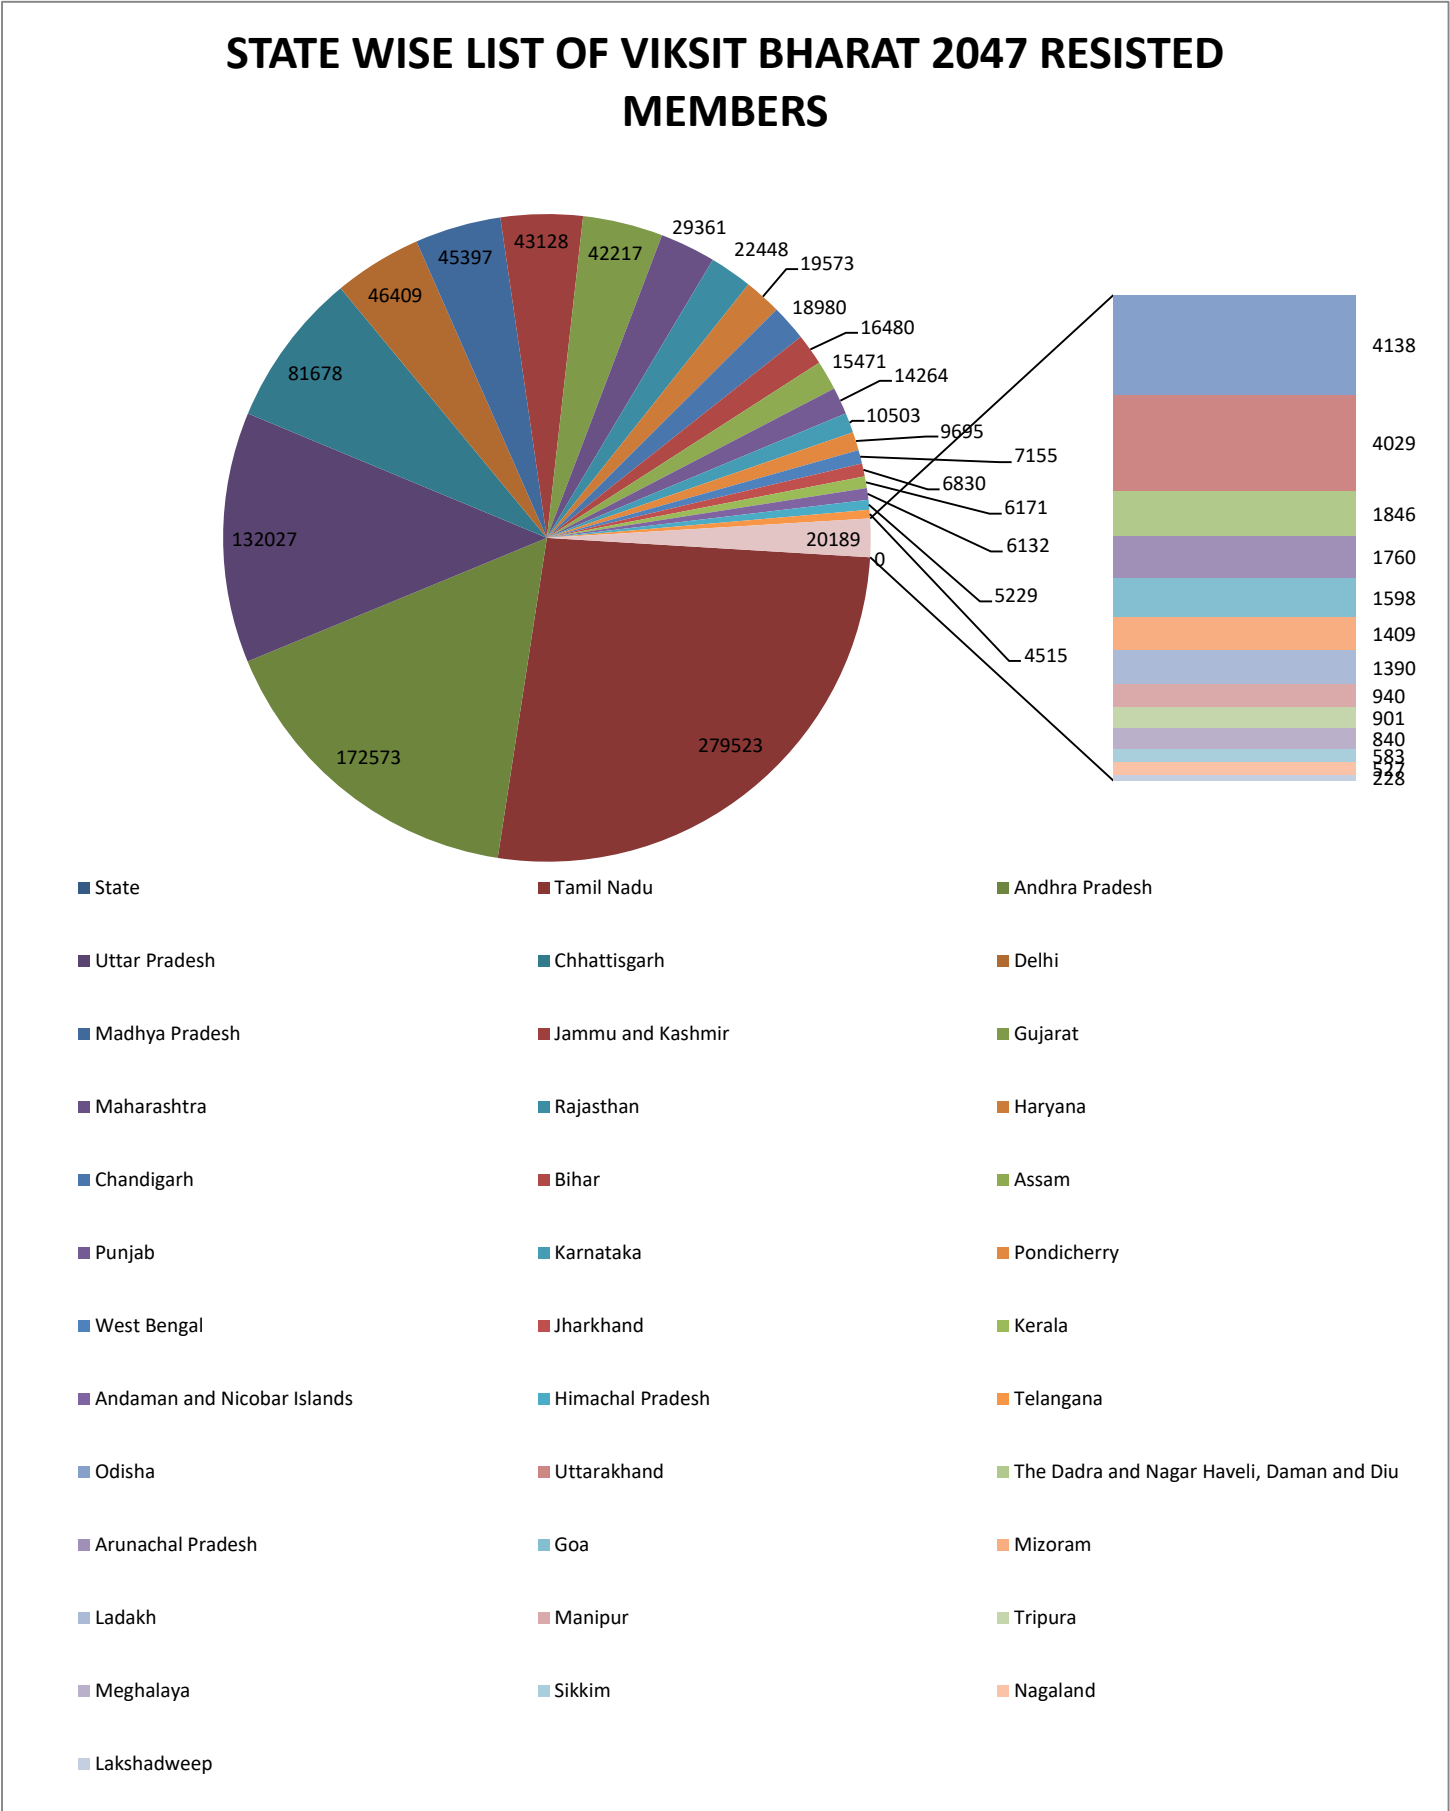

This multi-level approach enabled comprehensive analysis and helped ensure the reliability and validity of the collected data.
