Tear Speaks...

Mr. T Viji,
Assistant Professor of English,

It's me...

I'm like a flower,
which withers
in a wee second of bloom.
Neither have I aroma
Nor any spectra;
Too, do I attain blossom at once.

It's me...

I'm like a mirror,
which duplicates
hidden but impressed thoughts.
Neither have I tone
Nor any tune;
Yet, do I echo rhythm of life.

It's me...

To known, I'm precious,
but treasureless to the unknown,
whom do I call deceptive;
For they make me shed...
Yet, it's in vain.
Do you.....?
