INTRODUCTION

Content marketing has become one of the world's leading marketing techniques in the digital marketing sphere and uses consumers' views to build relationships by creating and sharing social media content that enhances their everyday life. Existing research in social media communities focused mainly on social media marketing and virtual brand community perspectives, while the valuable and unbridled role of content marketing in social media content communities was largely overlooked. The basic tool of digital marketing is content marketing. Content marketing is about creating interesting information that your customers are passionate about so that they pay attention to you." (Joe Pulliz)

With traditional marketing, you use ads and sales messages to try and attract prospective customers. Content marketing has become a leading marketing technique for digital marketing communications and uses the consumer's point of view to build relationships by creating and sharing engaging social media content that enhances their daily lives. Existing social media group research focused predominantly on the marketing of social media and the viewpoints of virtual brand communities while the valuable and unobtrusive role of content marketing was largely ignored in social media content communities. Content marketing (CM) is where, instead of interrupting people, you put high-quality content on the market for prospective customers. Your help people do what they're trying to do with no strings attached to them.

The idea is that prospects will then buy more of what you have to Content Marketing is a relatively new type of marketing that provides free media-type content to customers in exchange for their attention. Content marketing seeks to provide value to the target audience, usually by being informative, entertaining or both, while (organically) linking to the brand's message to product & services. This is why people want to watch a 3-5 minute or a lot longer video (that could be considered essentially a long commercial). Marketing means the social and managerial process through the creation and exchange of products and values between the individuals and groups, which achieve what they need and want. (Philip Kotler, in French). By definition, content marketing is a kind of marketing which includes the creation and sharing of digital content, such as videos, blogs, podcasts, white papers, eBooks, websites, and magazines to promote a company’s perspectives on specific topics. In other words, content marketing represents a long-term marketing strategy to strengthen relations with your target audience by consistently generating and promoting high-quality, helpful and relevant content. Content marketing has become an important part of marketing because it helps build trust, gain customer confidence and fosters customer loyalty. Content marketing agencies are a key part of digital marketing campaigns. To attract a marketing audience, content marketing uses any type of content such as newsletters, blog posting, video, Tweets, podcasts, wall posts to capture the audience groups attention through a great deal of content allows interacting with companies to buy or try your product or service. Content marketing is a practise in which a small segment of potential customers consistently creates, promotes and distributes multimedia’s that can solve the problems. Thanks to mobile technology and apps that promote deliveries and also users gather the content with giants such as Facebook and Google, the popularity of video continues to increase. Most importantly, the preference for video production over other types of content continues to grow, making it vital for marketers and brands. In the core business models, especially if it's a start-up or a small business. To make start-ups or small businesses more prominent, they should formulate and align their marketing proposition to rich content to communicate correctly with their prospective customers. Content creation has been a top priority for 53 per cent of digital marketers according to the latest 2019 published statistics. This number increases when a start-up is concerned. Therefore, the question is: 'How start-ups and small businesses would produce and leverage the best content for their business models. When consumers read your content, they start to develop an opinion of your brand. The more value you can provide with your content, the easier it will be to build trust with your target audience so we use the content marketing tools such as HubSpot, WordPress, Google Docs, Airstory, Grammarly and Google Analytics.

- Zomato:

  Zomato is one of the largest food aggregators in the world, as Zomato knows its audience well. They know what makes them use their service, and they never fail to bring out the foodie. With most food consumption shifting to restaurants, believe that there is a unique, once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to fundamentally change the future of food, a future where everyone in the world eats clean food, no matter where they are, and what they can afford. Everything that we do at Zomato today is uniquely suited to this future. As the industry standard for restaurant reviews, and as one of the largest delivery and dining players, we have unparalleled access to user insights and relationships with restaurateurs. This helps us to design and scale business models that make this future.
viable. Restaurants that purchase ingredients through Hyper pure are recognised by the 'Hyper pure Inside' tag on Zomato, allowing users to trust that the food they eat is made from fully traceable, high-quality ingredients. Hyperpure zomato helping farmers develop better, pesticide-free and chemical-free crops, providing assurance of demand cycles and improved pricing throughout the year. Hyperpure solves several supply chain problems and, at the same time, builds a more ecological model with plans to integrate rainwater harvesting and waste composting. Better food for more people was a key driver in the consolidation of Feeding India and Zomato. Hunger and food-waste are important problems to solve, and what better way to tackle the challenge head-on than by motivated starvation heroes working on innovative and sustainable programmes to ensure all excess food from different restaurants and venues that would otherwise go to landfills is donated to people in need.

The Zomato Feeding Foundation aims to be the largest and most powerful non-profit organisation to address hunger in the developing world. The COVID-19 crisis hit the day-to-day wagering community badly – leading to widespread hunger across the country. Springing into action, Feeding India (India chapter of the Zomato Feeding Foundation) launched 'Feed the Daily Wager' campaign to raise money and provide food support to daily wagers who lost their livelihoods during the COVID-19 lockdown.

You may have heard the song 'Womaniya' with 'Where Buyers Meet Sellers' tag-line. They appealed to senses through marketing psychology. You can get rid of household trouble - every Indian household's common pain. Although OLX India focuses mainly on video and TVs, Facebook and Twitter are equally proficient. And when you joined stand-out comedian Kapil Sharma, a TV star, you added the much-needed power to your marketing effort.

Top competitors of OLX India:

Craigslist, 58.com, sulekha.com, Autotrader, Trader, Naukri. A seven-man Tamil Nadu police team landed in a remote Rajasthan-based village called Barathpur in the past week of February in search of unidentified criminals responsible for a country-wide OLX scam. They didn't know much about the scam that duped thousands of unassuming buyers in ten villages in the area. The investigation leading the TN police to the western corner of the country on the 2,000 km chase culminated in a three month series of complaints received. There have been 14 cases in these unknown scammers from various parts of Chennai, who greeted forward-looking buyers with impressive offers on second-hand cars and double-drive trucks with fake identification documents. In all cases, the scammers became army staff who wanted to kill their vehicle by a long-distance transfer. (March 07, 2020, on Saturday).

OLX advisory:

Don't make any advance payments. Pay only when the product in hand has been received and reviewed. Be careful to rely on ID cards particularly from people who claim to be military personnel because they could be false. By hiding the number in the privacy section when you post an ad, you can choose not to publicly share your number on the OLX app. By using UPI apps and digital wallets, make sure that you are crediting money on your account and not debiting money from your account. If your UPI request requires that you enter your pin, do not do so and immediately report your account to OLX.
