Affiliate marketing is an enormous means to produce some extra money. In reality, some people have made Affiliate marketing their prime source of income. Everybody wants to involve in something that doesn’t take their whole day and provides considerable income, and Affiliate marketing is a great way of doing so. At the same time is is not totally free of challenges and barriers that supposed to be kept in mind while a beginner starts Affiliate programs.

1. Selection of the Right Niche: Niche is a focus area from a broad market that a business can serve to differentiate themselves from the competition. No matter how our skill and presentation in our blogs, vlogs no matter how good sales man we are, failure to choose right niche may spoil the party. Choose right niche which are profitable and at the same time Affiliate has interest and knowledge about it. For example, if an individual Affiliate has knowledge about any of the electronic gadget like DSLR camera, Laptop Computers, Mobile Phone etc. he or she must choose the area where they are expertise. Choosing wrong niche beyond ones interest and knowledge may put impact on content which may leads to reduction in real traffic.

2. Generate Right Kind of Traffic: Attracting any kind of users and enhancing traffic towards the seller will never help and solve the purpose. One must focus on attracting right kind of person who are interested and will purchase the product. It is very impotent to avoid traffic for sake of numbers. So it is very important to optimize page and target the right group of people.

3. Creating Content is a challenge: Creating content that would steal the attention and attract the internet user is not always very easy as there are thousands of similar content already available in the world of internet. One must be very specific and highly expertise to write and deliver an eye catching content which itself is challenging and difficult. If someone does not have the necessary skills, time, or if they are not willing to put effort into creating content, they can out source. One can find numerous freelancers within their budget that can create quality content.

4. Income depends highly on actual Sales: Sales are decisive to generate money, and if we fail to make money, there is no assistance of Affiliate marketing. Affiliate marketers should know the origin of the problem. Is it because of a lack of the right kind of traffic or because of poor conversion rate? We should have this understanding to avoid being trapped in a place.

5. Threat of existing Competition: For a beginner as an Affiliate marketer it is very difficult to create a spot in the world of internet when already there are thousands of well established Affiliates marketers exist with huge data base and traffic capabilities. Since the world is your market, it is also your competitor. There are countless veteran Affiliate marketers, but that should not stop you from trying your best.

CONCLUSION

Although Affiliate Marketing has a tremendous future for a country like India, but for an individual it is never been easy to chose the suitable niche and begin the career as an Affiliate. There are always been great amount of challenges for the beginners to present an eye catching content and attract the real buyers. After long perseverance and hard work it may take years and may take even decades to create perfect content and have a strong hold on markets. But at the same time it has hundreds of positive sides to count on. If an individual has very little to start earnings they can go for this minimum risk with high rate of return earning method, just a affiliate needs to focus and target the potential buyers and influence them to purchase the product of sellers. This is a passive method of earning where an Affiliate can keep on earning while they are sleeping. Expenses for basic infrastructure to start this career are not massive. It could even been carried on through our mobile phone if it has connectivity to network. According to the data published by Internet and Mobile Association Of India (IAMAI), the digital commerce market may grow at a tremendous rate for next decades. Which gives a very positive sign to choose Affiliate marketing as a fulltime career for the Youths of India.
