1. INTRODUCTION

Social media is a relatively recent phenomena over the last decade the worldwide web has been a proliferation of users driven web technologies such as blogs, social networks, and media sharing platforms. Collectively called social media these technologies have enabled the growth of user generated content, a global community, and the publishing of consumer opinions (Smith, 2009). This movement now dominate the way we use the web and has given rise to popular platforms like Facebook, YouTube, Instagram, and Twitter, where people connect, produce, and share content.

We are living in the modern world which is completely connected with the world through internet. If we can see that then it clearly shows that in modern era the social networking sites have changed the mind and way of thinking of many people and many communities too. Various studies have taken place on the importance of social media like study on. Social networking sites are of great help for society too as it gives various types of ideas for sharing thoughts, images, information etc.

The use of social media by consumers is anxiously followed by marketers, but not much known about it influences the consumer decision making. This paper explores how the presence and abundance of these new information sources is influencing the decision process of consumers for complex purchases.
2. REVIEW OF LITERATURE

Edison (2011) In his recent analysis, on users of on-line social networks in America revealed that about 52% of United States citizens have a minimum of one or additional social network profiles. The analysis showed that one fourth of on-line social marketing users buy their favorite brands, on these on-line social networks’ sites, of which many users use Face book as brand pages. The result shows that on-line social networks became a source of information on products for buying decision making by consumers.

Karimov et al., (2011) In their research suggesting that purchasing of products online may be considered risky by customers because of the lack to make physical product analysis, lack of personal information contact, and in some cases the dearth of secure transactions. The efforts towards increasing the basic issue of trust in shopper behavior can be supported with the employment of social media channels, like Face book, YouTube, Twitter, and company blogs as they enhance the sensation of social presence additionally, shoppers may use social media as a communication tool which can facilitate them decide what to shop for. The recent addition to the capabilities of social media is the addition of mobile applications to communicate with others.

Sharma et al., (2012) In their study find the advantage and disadvantage about a brand or product present on the social media. The study also reveals that social media has an overall influence on consumers shopping behavior.

Pietro et al., (2012) Explore the extend of social media, particularly Face book, influence buying decision. They find happiness in using social media for buying decision. The study reveals about consumer’s suggestions and recommendations on merchandise on Face book, enjoyment in finding the information on brands and products, attitude in the usage of various tools provided by social media for the buying decision of products. The study also infers a good relationship between the views of consumer towards buying intention of customer and social media.

Leerapong et al., (2013) Checked out the factors which influence the on-line buying decision of consumers through the social network, notably Face book. In their study, consumers graded the factors like risk, trust, convenience etc... That inspired or discouraged them from buying the product all the way through Face book.

Huimin et al., (2013) This study analyzed the consumer buying decision method and information flows between people in social media. This study uses the consumer buying decision method as a source and analyzed many research articles to check its hypothesis associated with the different types of proximity. Results and theories have proved that the publicity and information about the product in social media platforms is stricken by the various varieties of proximity plays that are making an impact in the consumer buying decision method.
Ethel Lee (2013) The study aims at clarifying why, when and how the social media affected the consumer buying behavior. The study was conducted during May 2013 in Turku. Quantitative analysis technique is tailored for the aim of this analysis. Primary data was collected through questionnaire. This analysis offers clarification on how consumers are involved in the process of gathering required information through social media before procuring a product. The findings provide that consumer actively take part in the search of information for a product on social media when compared to mass media, the search is more subjective and selective and subjective.

Charles-Henri et al., (2012) The study explains how social media influence on the buying decision process of consumer and also how it differ at each stage of buying decision process. A structure form and two semi-structured interviews is used to gather data for the study. The study finds that social media varies at every stage of buying decision. As the buyer dig deep to get more information about the product, the influence of social media is reduced. The study highlights that there are possibilities for the sellers to hold the influence of social media in buying decision.

Researchers has tried to find out the gap between research has already taken and what researcher is going to do. Researcher has made the objectives clearly. Findings of various articles clearly seen that now a days consumer like to purchase the goods online. That means consumer prefer online purchasing as compare to Traditional way of purchasing.

5. THEORETICAL BACKGROUND

Social media has a great impact of bringing together not only the sellers but the consumers are also taking benefit of mixing with seller too. In traditional mode of communication like written or oral many people were writing letters to their relatives, parents and many other people but here everyone is busy too much and they need to quick decision without much wasting of time. Like in social media, naaptol is emerging website which is providing variety of goods as well as services to the consumers. Now a consumer can sit while doing the work can order any type of goods which is required by him. The best examples are mobile phones, LED television and many more services and goods too which consumer can purchase from online store. Study says the shop clues are another mega online store where the shoppers can buy many types of consumer durables too. In updated world internet has links the millions of people at a time and they can take the service of internet twenty-four hours with minimum cost. It allows anyone at any time can contact with each other without much hindrances.

Consumer is very important person in any area. Without consumer the value of seller is zero. The consumer is giving a chance to seller to sell the goods and seller selling the goods to consumer. To understand the thinking and behavior of consumer is not an easy task. It requires a perfect skill which is not possible for every seller. The seller should understand the behavior of consumer as the thinking of consumers are always going on changing and it’s not static. He is the main or focal point of any product, goods or services. Every seller that must of traditional media or social media should understand that who the consumer, what are his likes and dislikes, what type of goods he wants to buy or he is ready to buy. As compare to traditional media social media has changed too much to understand the behavior of consumer. Social media marketing is gaining importance too much now days. In journal important publications many research scholars put their views it can be seen that social networking is playing a very important. Now a days online doctors are available and any one can put their question on the website related problem can checked online at the immediate time without wasting much efforts and money too. Online marketing is a kind of tool in the hands of the various businessmen too as many businessmen are getting ready made reface for the business houses too. not only using by the common man but also by business class too. Even with the help of social websites business people can take advantage of advertising the product. The many studies did in the past which is an example which neatly indicates a various parameter of social websites which affects purchase intention. Socio culture factors even social websites have created lot of opportunities for the consumers.
