Since ancient time the teachers are respected in India like God in our vedas it's said गुरुर्ब्रह्मा गुरुर्वर्ष्ुः गुरुर्देवो महेश्वरुः, गुरुः साक्षात् परर्ब्ह्म तस्मै श्री गुरवे नमः it means The guru is Brahmā, the guru is Viṣṇu, the guru is Maheśvara (Śiva), the guru is the self-revealing limitless Brahman. Salutations to that revered guru.even Kothari commission said ,"Future of India is building in its classroom". Teachers are those who gives birth to other professions therefore importance of teachers becomes more important by which education a person become teacher is known as teachers education and those people who teach students in teachers education that how to become teachers are known as teachers educators .The history of modern teacher education in India is given by Britishers The first normal school was established under the management and with the finances of the British government in Madras (Chennai) in June 1826. At the beginning it was prepared teachers for district schools. Later, this normal school developed into the Presidency College. Bombay (Mumbai) started a normal school in the year 1847 in the Elphinstone Institution and Calcutta (Kolkata) also started a normal school in the year 1849 Wood's Despatch 1854, on education brought out the need for teachers' training, as it desired" to see the establishment of training schools and classes for masters in each presidency in India." The grant- in-aid rules framed made a provision of salary grant to those schools only having teachers who had obtained a certificate of teacher training. The lady Irwin College set-up in New Delhi. Andhra University stated a new degree in teachers education named B.Ed in 1932. Bombay launched a post Graduate degree in M.Ed in 1936.In 1937, M.K. Gandhi convened Wardha Educational Conference and propounded a new system of education popularly known as 'Basic Education'. Gandhiji felt the need of making teacher-training more practical and functional. He introduced craft-centred education for child, correlated with life situations. With this, the emphasis in teacher-training now shifted to the type of education which was practical and based on the needs of the pupils and the community. This basic Education stated by Mahatma Gandhi leading to the training of teachers for basic schools. In 1938, a Basic Training College was set-up at Allahabad. While after independence all teachers training courses were controlled by N.C.E.R.T later on after the recommendations of Education Commission 1966 an autonomous body was set up in 1973 to regulate teachers education and after Education policy of the 1986 and 1991 N.C.T.E has become statutory body at present time every teacher education course has to be recognized by N.C.T.E. Following are some programs of teachers education which are approved by N.C.T.E

Problems of Teacher Education in India

Lack of Awareness: It is found that most of the students are not aware about teachers education programs, they do not have an idea which teacher education program is suitable for them in rural areas. Some students even do not know about new courses like B.El.Ed or I.T.E.P.

Poor Salary: Poor salary is one of the biggest problems of teacher education in other fields. Even in teaching, teacher educators are paid less in comparison to other teachers in the private sector.

Poor Infrastructure: Poor infrastructure is the problem of teacher education. Even NCTE accepts that most of the teacher education institutions are having poor infrastructure.

Deficiencies in Selection Procedure: The selection procedure of admission in teacher education programs is not adequate. The admission is done either by the academic marks or entrance marks, but it does not test teaching skill and demonstration.

Problem of Practice of Teacher: Practice of teaching is a major problem of teacher education institutions. Most of the institutes do not have schools, therefore, they have to face the problem of practice of teaching.

Conclusions: With the help of above points, we can say that teacher education in India is vast and diversified according to levels, language, area, and regions. Besides that, teacher education is facing a lot of problems at present time but by improving the salary structure and admission procedure, it can be further improved.
