ABSTRACT

School is a place where we receive formal education and enrich our knowledge. In our society school is recognized as a holy place and its work has been recognized as supreme work for education. Parents try to get their children admitted in those schools but there are some schools which are not in good condition but parents are being compelled to get their children admitted there. These matters are related directly to the school and school achievement and available material for academic environment. It is not a matter how good is the building structure and how much strong is school construction and teaching system; though it depends on school’s good performance, which depends on principal and his administrative behaviour with the members of teaching and teachers.

Although this matter is related to educational contribution. But it is very important, how much neat and clean atmosphere of school is? School’s good administration shows proper academic availability and performance. Physical resources of school as school building, library, furniture, books etc. and specially that are related to the administrative behaviour of the principal and teachers of the school to create an uncommon atmosphere. Institutional environment is a particular feeling, that may be effective for school. Thus, after visiting from one can distinguish such particular feelings openly get experienced. On that basis we can declare school as open or close. One can compare between these schools who has got deep knowledge of education as well comparative views also has as well in the same manners. There are two types of school environment.

Physical atmosphere: – School’s physical atmosphere means school’s situation, location, building, playground, reading materials, library tools and laboratory, hostel etc. Generally, if schools are located at easily accessible place and provide proper facility in enough quantity, also includes neatness and proper administrative order are maintained, may be called good schools.

Human atmosphere: – Another important matter is related to hygienic attitudes. In which these are mainly depends on teachers, students and principal along with teachers and there must be good relation among them and inter-active attitude and discipline must be maintained.

“Education is a Process” according to a definition, in which we can put impact on less mature than full mature body. This form consists of mainly teachers’ attitude, behaviour and teaching skill may be influence for children progress. Therefore, education is a process that goes throughout life. So, we can’t take any teachers degree for being a good teacher it may be from good university and as well from good academics. Training before service, may be touchstone for the appointment ad for education department that may be fulfilled the requirement and decided measurement, whose real circular development day by day and increase by the time and also includes teaching experience.

It is desirable for co-operative democratic process. Regarding school’s all matter and policy that control in which feeling should be matched with teachers and principal to get such freedom to do their work completely usually an education administration is the man objective for human being; relation may be established, because different kinds of person work get together in complete way. Administration may be helpful for special organization to do complete his ideal in related to any working field and try to achieve the goal. If administration is much highly; organization may do work in well order where organizations are related to material and tools, that is the relation of administration and the teachers of organization or their activities with co-operative attitudes. Administrations are related to personal or collective both forms are related to human being.

It is only education administration that helps in creating special atmosphere in concluding progress where future is being created. John Dewey has given three objectives of school atmosphere.

1. School may create such simple atmosphere and present in which complicated and intricate element are being pick up from the modern life that are permanent and of basic importance which is very simple and interesting therefore that may help to arise curiosity in children.

2. School atmosphere’s another work is that to collect or gain only important and priceless material and qualitative product to shift out from the uncouth and meaningless from outer society of life and field of education, because that may become before us in the form of future that may be in special and clear from which may be the objective of education for children.

3. School may develop social atmosphere in different steps and priceless multifocal elements among children interest and duties may be arranged in systematic order and in different products. Which may be effective for many directions and in adverse condition.
